NEW WIRELESS INVENTION THAT CLOSES A GARAGE DOOR WHEN LEFT OPENED

Chandler, AZ. PROTECTRIX™ (division of Excentual Enterprises) announced today the introduction of a small, inexpensive device that automatically closes a garage door when left opened. Installing and programming the device takes less than five minutes, and no wiring is required.

This new invention represents a practical solution that eliminates a homeowner's concern about accidentally leaving the garage door open. This majority of people who purchase Protectrix™ are worried about thieves. Other concerns are raccoons and rattlesnakes pillaging their garage, pipes bursting in cold weather, and still others have garage doors that randomly open due to their proximity to airbases and other military installations.

Steve Brundula, Developer and Inventor states; "I drove away numerous times wondering if I closed the garage door only to return and find it closed. One day I left for several days to come back to a wide-open garage and I had been robbed. After filing a police report I was surprised to find that over 40% of all home invasions occur by thieves entering through the garage. This event prompted me to develop a system that was easy to install and use. We've tested this product for over a year and a half, and now feel that the product is ready for release to the marketplace."

Protectrix features are:

- 1) Less than 5 minutes to install, and requires no wiring;
- 2) Adjustable delay of 5 minutes to 4 hours from the time the door opens till the time the door closes;
- 3) Sends off a visual and audible alarm 30 seconds before Protectrix closes the garage door;
- 4) Works with all safety sensors built into the garage door;
- 5) Can also be disabled whenever necessary if you would like the door left open indefinitely;
- 6) Protectrix comes with a 2-year unconditional warranty, and 45 day money back guarantee.
